Are you going to be a Sophomore and planning to live on campus next semester?
 If so, consider becoming a member of the sophomore experience program. If you have a roommate or a group of roommates, consider selecting a room in Watson Pods together!

What is this program about?
 This program is specifically designed for sophomore students. The purpose of the program is to build on the experiences of students during their first-year. Students will benefit from such offerings as:

- Study abroad experiences
- Career exploration
- Internship programs
- Leadership development
- Community Service participation
- Serving as a mentor for first-year students
- Interactions with faculty and university staff

For more information contact Ali Scott, Interim Academic Enhancement Coordinator at allison@georgiasouthern.edu or 486-7521!

Take advantage of this great opportunity!

CLEC Lecture in Mathematics:
Thursday, February 23rd, 6 p.m., Room 1005, College of Information Technology Building.

"Unraveling the Mysteries of Infinity", Professor Jimmie Lawson (Louisiana State University)

Abstract: Since ancient times philosophers, mathematicians, and scientists have been fascinated and mystified by the concept of the infinite. The first important insights into the mathematics of infinity arose in the late nineteenth century in George Cantor's theory of infinite sets, which we illustrate with a mathematical variant of the story of Hercules' fifth labor, the cleansing of the Augean stables.

All are welcome, especially undergraduate and graduate students!
 Refreshments will be available at 5:30 p.m. outside of Room 1005 of the IT Building.

Spotlight On . . . Shr`i M. Davis, President of SGA

Shr`i M. Davis, is a senior graduating on May 6, 2006, with a B.A. in psychology and a minor in exercise science. After graduation she hopes to enroll in Georgia State University's Master of Science Program in Professional Counseling, prior to moving on to her PhD in Counseling. Ultimately, she intends to practice as a Marriage and Family psychologist. Currently, Shr`i is the President of the Student Government Association, the governing council for the students. Last year she served as the Vice-President for Academic Affairs, after serving two years as an active senator. She is also a McNair Scholar and a second year MAP sponsor. When Shr`i is not actively involved on campus with SGA, Phi Sigma Pi National Honor's Fraternity, or many other campus organizations; she enjoys spending time with her friends just relaxing.

Career Corner

Remember, the Eagle Expo Career Fair is coming up on Wednesday, Feb. 22, 9am-2pm at the RAC. The Career Fair will enable you to learn from the employers and receive information on: Employment trends, skills needed for jobs, current/future positions, and contact names. A couple of tips to help you make the most of the career fair: Dress nicely for the event (preferably business casual or interview attire), bring plenty of copies of your resume, be prepared to ask employers questions, make eye contact and listen attentively, and ask for business cards for follow-up discussions. To learn more about what you need to do to prepare for the Career Fair, please call 681-5197. For a complete listing of companies attending, visit our website at: <http://students.georgiasouthern.edu/career>.

Leadership Opportunities

There are many student leadership and volunteer opportunities at our residence halls. Each residence hall has a "government" called the Hall Action Team that plans events for the students living in the halls. In addition to the action teams, the Residence Hall President's Council (RHPC) also plans events and activities on a larger scale. Just by living in a residence hall you can get involved in these organizations, as well as the Residence Hall Judicial Board and National Residence Hall Honorary. Go to <http://www.gsuhousing.com/getInvolved/> to read more about these involvement opportunities.
