Career Corner

Many times the interviewing process consists of a formal lunch or dinner, and although most people know the basics of dining etiquette such as do not talk with your mouth full, many people are unaware of all the detailed etiquette rules. The Dining for Success program is designed for Seniors and Graduate Students. During the program, students are served a five course meal and are taught the rules of dining etiquette essential to making a good impression during an interview.

Students must register to attend the Dining for Success Program by providing Career Services with a $20 refundable deposit. Deposits will be refunded on the day of the event to students who attend.

The program will be held on Tuesday, October 23 from 6:00pm-8:30pm in the Nessmith-Lane Southern Ballroom.

Considering Withdrawing from a Course?

If you have your midterm grades back (freshmen: check WINGS and your email account) and you are not doing as well as you thought, you may be considering withdrawing from the course. If you are in this situation, make sure you understand the ramifications and then determine whether withdrawing is the best alternative for you.

The last day to withdraw without academic penalty is October 6th. You can do so by going on WINGS, but it's a good idea to talk with your advisor first. And if you've lost your RAN for Fall 2006, you'll need to go to your advisor. Don't know who he or she is? It depends on your major. Call the Academic Advisement Center at 681-5401.

There are some good reasons to drop a course. For instance, if you are positive that you will make an F because of scores you've received already, you might want to consider dropping. You must maintain a 3.0 to keep HOPE (although it is not checked every semester), and a low adjusted GPA (under 2.0) will cause you to go on academic probation. If you drop a course by Oct. 9, you will not receive a grade for this course, and the attempted hours will be recorded on your transcript as a W. After Oct. 9th, you will receive an F for any course you drop.

Some classes, such as GSU 1210, cannot be dropped without special permission from the First Year Experience Office, 1001 Williams Center. Permission to drop this class is granted only for extreme circumstances; nonattendance or failure to turn in work are not considered acceptable reasons for dropping GSU 1210.

BUT PLEASE NOTE: Dropping a course is not a cure-all. You SHOULD NOT drop a course because it is hard or not interesting to you or because you feel the instructor is boring. There are consequences of dropping courses after schedule adjustments. These drops will appear on your transcript as a withdrawal. If you withdraw repeatedly, employers and graduate schools are likely to count this against you. Instead of withdrawing, the better option for many students is to seek out additional help from their professors or the Academic Success Center (681-5371).

For those on HOPE or any other financial aid, dropping courses can cause serious problems. For this reason, if you are contemplating dropping a course, you should talk with your financial aid counselor in Anderson Hall (681-5413) to determine the impact of withdrawing.
